

How can I tell how well my child is progressing if grades don't get assigned until the end of the semester?

Scores in the SRG gradebook are progressive. They consider student growth over time so that early attempts at learning do not prohibit a student from getting a semester grade that reflects their actual mastery of the course standards by the end of the semester.

Topic scores are assigned when enough evidence is collected to determine student progress in the topic. The Topic Score can change as additional evidence of student learning is collected.

Topic Scores are averaged to determine the semester grade.

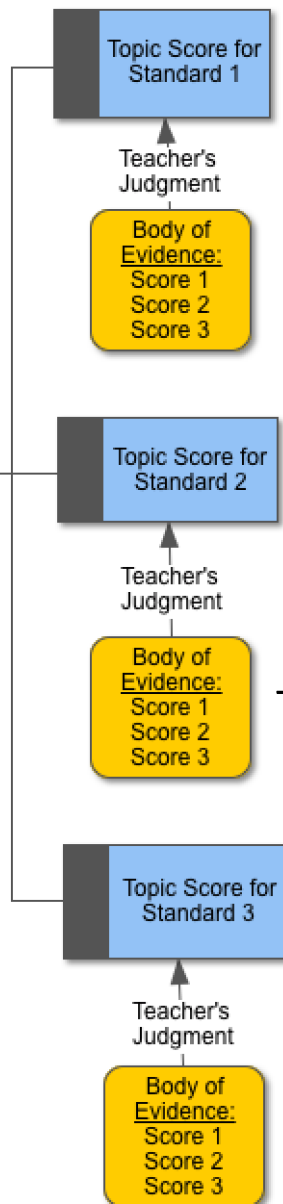

Averaged

The teacher's judgment is based on the evidence students provide of their progress.

Teachers collaboratively score and discuss student work to ensure that the same work would receive the same score no matter which teacher scores the work.

Teachers look for trends in progress to determine the topic score for each student. Scores in the body of evidence ARE NOT averaged.

Timely homework completion is essential to progress and growth in an accelerated and compacted curriculum.

Missing assignments may mean too little evidence of growth over time to assign an accurate Topic Score.

Good academic and scholarly behaviors improve student growth. Time management skills are also important.

When scoring student work, teachers may use these abbreviations to clarify the student's progress:

ET: Exceeding the Target

AT: At Target (or Achieving Target)

PT: Progressing towards Target

NM: target Not Met

M: Missing; no evidence provided by student
